For proposed judging criteria, list the names of classes you feel should get 3, 2, or 1 points. Use previous judging criteria for similar awards to get ideas. Put your tray together, at least your preliminary tray, before writing your award. Looking at that tray will help you write judging criteria. The Co-Chairs of Judging will use your criteria to develop the final criteria for judging your award. The more thought you give now to your award description and how it might be judged, the better the final result for everyone.
